CHARACTER REFERENCE FOR GRAHAM K DANIELS

Graham is the youngest son of a well respected South Australian family.

I have known him from boyhood and have observed with interests his development into manhood.

He is never afraid of menial work, yet able to lecture to hundreds of people from his acquired knowledge.

He has the same respect and admiration for the young as well as the elderly.

He is an encourager and is well spoken, from his background knowledge he is able, "to think on his feet".

Graham is a family man and believes the family unit is a strong bond to good economy.

I have no hesitation when I compare his integrity and honesty in all matters.

About - Douglas S Tuffin

I was born in 1918. I worked through the Great Depression as an agriculturalist and then joined the Australian Infantry Forces as a Warrant Officer II serving in Darwin, New Guinea, Solomon Islands, Green Island and Buka Island.

Then came Missionary Service for 19 years, assisting the Aboriginal people of Australia in the transition from Tribal life to Urban living.

After this I became Foreman for W.H. Wylie producing automotive parts. I am now retired.
